From:	Verda Ozer <verdaozer@gmail.com>
To:	verda özer <verdaozer@gmail.com>
CC:
Date:	Mon, 12/8/2014 2:12:50 PM
Subject:	Column: And Here Comes Iran

Dear all,

This week I wrote that Iran's bombings of ISIS targets in Iraq will have not only regional implications, but also wider impacts on Turkey's role in the anti-ISIS coalition.

http://www.hurriyetdailynews.com/and-here-comes-iran.aspx?pageID=449&nID=75261&NewsCatID=466

I have been in Kurdistan, Iraq in the last few days, conducting an interview with Salih Muslim, the Co-Chair of PYD, the dominant Kurdish party in northern Syria. He made some "milestone statements" in terms of Turkey-US-Kurdistan-PYD relations. It was partly covered in English today.

http://www.hurriyetdailynews.com/pyd-promised-us-to-not-give-arms-to-pkk.aspx?pageID=238&nID=75307&NewsCatID=359

I will share with you the whole part of it along with my observations of the refugee camps in Kurdistan soon.

With very best wishes,

Verda

Twitter @ Verda_Ozer